

Return & Replacement Policy

Return Eligibility

Customers may request a return for eligible products when the request meets the conditions specified in this Return & Replacement Policy.

Return eligibility depends on the purchase date, product type, product condition, reason for return, and applicable return requirements.

Products may be eligible for return when they are defective, damaged, incorrect, incomplete, or do not match the confirmed order.

Customers must provide a valid order reference number, registered email address, and relevant purchase information when submitting a return request.

A return request does not guarantee automatic approval. Each request is reviewed according to the applicable eligibility requirements.

Return Time Limit

Customers may request a return within 15 calendar days from the date the eligible product is delivered.

The return request must be submitted within the applicable return period.

Requests submitted after the return period may be rejected unless an applicable exception is approved.

Customers should report defective, damaged, incorrect, or missing items as soon as possible after delivery.

The date on which the return request is submitted will be used to determine whether the request was made within the permitted return period.

Eligible Products for Return

Products may qualify for return when they are received in a defective or damaged condition.

Products may also qualify when the wrong product, incorrect quantity, or an item different from the confirmed order is delivered.

A product may qualify for return when it cannot be used normally because of a verified product-related issue.

The product must meet the applicable condition requirements for return unless the return is specifically related to a defect or damage.

Customers must provide the required order information so that the support team can verify the purchase and return eligibility.

Non-Eligible Products for Return

Products may not qualify for return when they have been used, damaged, altered, or modified by the customer beyond normal inspection.

Returns may be rejected when damage has resulted from misuse, accidental handling, improper storage, unauthorized modification, or failure to follow product instructions.

Products returned without a valid order reference or proof of purchase may not be accepted.

Return requests submitted after the applicable return period may not be eligible.

Products that have been fully consumed or cannot be resold due to customer-caused damage may not qualify for return.

Product Condition Requirements

Returned products should be in their original condition unless the return is being requested because the product was defective or damaged.

Customers should return all applicable accessories, components, manuals, packaging, and other items supplied with the original product.

Products should not show additional damage caused after delivery.

The support team may inspect the returned product to verify its condition and the reason for the return.

If the returned product does not meet the applicable condition requirements, the return or replacement request may be rejected.

Return Request Process

Customers can submit a return request through the available customer support channel or order management system.

The request should include the order reference number, registered email address, product details, reason for return, and any required supporting information.

Customers may be asked to provide photographs or videos showing the product condition, packaging, defect, damage, or incorrect item.

The support team reviews the submitted information before approving the return.

Customers should wait for return instructions and approval before sending the product back.

Return Verification

The support team verifies the order details before approving a return request.

Verification may include checking the order reference, purchase date, product details, delivery status, return reason, and customer information.

For damaged or defective products, supporting photographs, videos, or other evidence may be reviewed.

The returned product may be inspected after receipt to confirm the reported issue.

Additional information may be requested if the submitted details are incomplete or insufficient for verification.

A return is considered approved only after the customer receives confirmation from the support team.

Return Shipping

Customers may receive return instructions after their return request has been approved.

The return address, shipping instructions, and applicable return requirements will be provided by the support team where necessary.

Customers should package the product securely to prevent additional damage during return transportation.

Customers should retain the return shipment or tracking reference until the return has been confirmed.

Return shipping responsibility may depend on the reason for the return and the applicable return conditions.

Damaged or Defective Products

Customers should report damaged or defective products as soon as possible after delivery.

The customer should provide the order reference and evidence of the damage or defect when requested.

The support team reviews the reported issue to determine whether the problem qualifies for a return or replacement.

If the defect or damage is verified, the customer may be instructed to return the affected product.

A replacement may be provided when the product is eligible and a replacement unit is available.

If a replacement is unavailable, another applicable resolution may be offered according to the circumstances.

Incorrect Product Received

Customers who receive a product different from the confirmed order should contact support as soon as possible.

The customer should provide the order reference, details of the incorrect product, and photographs when requested.

The support team verifies the delivered product against the original order information.

If the incorrect delivery is confirmed, the customer may be instructed to return the incorrect product.

A replacement with the correct product may be arranged when available.

Missing or Incomplete Products

Customers should check the order contents after delivery.

If an item, component, accessory, or part included in the confirmed order is missing, the customer should report the issue to support.

The support team may verify the order details, packaging information, and fulfillment records.

If the missing item is confirmed, the customer may receive the missing item or another applicable resolution.

A return of the complete order may be required in certain circumstances before a replacement can be issued.

Replacement Eligibility

Customers may qualify for a replacement when an eligible product is defective, damaged, incorrect, or otherwise fails to meet the applicable replacement requirements.

Replacement eligibility is determined after verification of the order and reported issue.

The replacement product may be the same product as the original order when stock is available.

If the same product is unavailable, the customer may be offered an alternative resolution.

Replacement requests may be rejected when the issue resulted from customer misuse, accidental damage, unauthorized modification, or other excluded circumstances.

Replacement Process

After a replacement request is approved, the support team provides the customer with the applicable replacement instructions.

Where required, the original product must be returned and received before the replacement is dispatched.

The replacement order is processed after the required return and verification steps have been completed.

Customers may receive confirmation and tracking information when the replacement has been dispatched.

Replacement delivery time may vary depending on product availability, processing time, and delivery location.

Replacement Product Condition

Replacement products are provided in accordance with the applicable product quality requirements.

Customers should inspect the replacement product after delivery.

If the replacement product arrives damaged or has a verified defect, the customer should contact support promptly.

A replacement product may be subject to the same return and replacement requirements as the original product.

Product Availability for Replacement

Replacement is subject to product availability.

If the original product is unavailable, the support team may provide an alternative resolution.

Customers may be informed when a replacement cannot be provided because the product is discontinued, unavailable, or out of stock.

Product availability does not affect the customer's responsibility to follow the applicable return requirements.

Return Inspection

Returned products may be inspected after they are received.

The inspection may verify the product condition, reported defect or damage, accessories, packaging, and other applicable return requirements.

The inspection result may be used to determine whether the return or replacement request meets the applicable conditions.

If the inspection confirms that the return requirements are satisfied, the approved resolution will proceed.

If the inspection identifies customer-caused damage or another excluded condition, the request may be rejected.

Return and Replacement Approval or Rejection

A return or replacement request may be approved when the product and request meet all applicable eligibility requirements.

The customer will receive confirmation when the request has been approved.

A request may be rejected when the return period has expired, the product is not eligible, the required information is missing, or the reported issue cannot be verified.

Requests may also be rejected when the product has been damaged through misuse, unauthorized modification, or improper handling.

Customers may contact support for clarification when a return or replacement request is rejected.

Processing Time

Approved return requests are processed after the required verification and return steps have been completed.

The time required to inspect a returned product may vary depending on the product type and condition.

Approved replacement orders are normally processed after the returned product has been received and verified when a return is required.

Customers may receive updates regarding the status of their return or replacement request.

Delivery time for a replacement depends on product availability, processing time, and delivery location.

Refund Instead of Replacement

A refund may be considered when a replacement is unavailable or when the applicable circumstances qualify for a refund.

The customer may be required to return the original product before the refund is processed.

Any refund resulting from an approved return will be handled according to the applicable Refund Policy.

Approved refunds are normally issued to the original payment method used for the purchase.

The time required for the refund to appear in the customer's account may depend on the payment provider or financial institution.

Return Status Tracking

Customers can contact support or use the available order management system to check the status of a return or replacement request.

Status information may include return requested, under review, return approved, return in transit, return received, inspection completed, replacement approved, replacement dispatched, or return rejected.

Customers should provide the order reference number when requesting a status update.

Customers should retain the return tracking information until the returned product has been confirmed as received.

Customer Support for Returns and Replacements

Customers can contact customer support for assistance with return eligibility, return requests, return shipping, damaged products, defective products, incorrect products, missing items, replacement requests, and return status.

Customers should provide their registered email address and order reference number when contacting support.

Support agents may request photographs, videos, product information, delivery details, or other evidence to verify the issue.

Customers should report return or replacement issues as soon as possible to avoid delays in processing.

All return and replacement requests are reviewed according to the conditions and requirements specified in this Return & Replacement Policy.