

Delivery Policy

Delivery Eligibility

Customers are eligible for delivery when the order has been successfully placed, payment has been confirmed where required, and the delivery address falls within the available delivery area.

Delivery availability may depend on the customer's location, product type, serviceable area, delivery method, and other fulfillment requirements.

Orders that cannot be delivered to the provided location may be cancelled or placed on hold until an alternative delivery arrangement is available.

Delivery Address

Customers must provide a complete and accurate delivery address when placing an order.

The delivery address may include the customer's name, house or building number, street or locality, city, state, postal code, and contact number where required.

Customers are responsible for checking the delivery address before confirming the order.

Incorrect, incomplete, or outdated delivery information may result in delivery delays, failed delivery attempts, or return of the order.

Customers should contact support as soon as possible if they identify an error in the delivery address.

Delivery Areas

Orders are delivered only to locations supported by the available delivery service.

Delivery availability may vary depending on the postal code, geographic location, product type, and delivery partner.

Some remote, restricted, or difficult-to-access locations may have limited delivery availability.

If a delivery address is outside the supported delivery area, the order may not be accepted or may require an alternative delivery arrangement.

Delivery Time

Estimated delivery time is provided based on the order processing stage, delivery location, selected delivery method, and availability of the product.

Delivery estimates are not guaranteed and may change because of operational delays, carrier issues, weather conditions, public holidays, or other circumstances affecting transportation.

Customers can check the estimated delivery information through the available order tracking system.

Delivery time begins after the order has been successfully processed and dispatched, where applicable.

Order Processing Before Delivery

Orders are processed before they are handed over for delivery.

Processing may include payment verification, product availability checks, order confirmation, packaging, and preparation for dispatch.

An order may not be dispatched immediately after it is placed.

Customers may receive a notification when the order has been dispatched and is ready for delivery.

Delivery Charges

Delivery charges, when applicable, are calculated according to the order, delivery location, product type, delivery method, and other applicable conditions.

Any applicable delivery charge will be displayed during the ordering process before the customer confirms the order.

Additional delivery charges may apply when a special delivery service or alternative delivery arrangement is requested.

Customers are responsible for reviewing applicable delivery charges before completing the order.

Delivery Methods

Available delivery methods may vary depending on the customer's location and the type of order.

Standard delivery may be provided through the regular delivery network.

Express or priority delivery may be available for eligible locations and products.

The estimated delivery time and applicable charges may differ between delivery methods.

The selected delivery method may not be changed after dispatch if the order has already been transferred to the delivery provider.

Delivery Tracking

Customers may track dispatched orders using the tracking information provided through the order management system.

Tracking information may include the order reference, shipment reference, delivery status, carrier information, and estimated delivery date.

Tracking updates may take some time to appear after an order has been dispatched.

Customers should contact support if tracking information is unavailable or remains unchanged for an extended period.

Delivery Notifications

Customers may receive notifications when an order is confirmed, dispatched, out for delivery, delivered, or affected by a delivery issue.

Notifications may be sent through the registered email address, phone number, account notification system, or another supported communication channel.

Customers should ensure that their registered contact information is accurate so that important delivery updates can be received.

Failure to receive a notification does not necessarily mean that the delivery has been cancelled or delayed.

Delivery Attempts

The delivery provider may make one or more attempts to deliver the order to the provided address.

Customers should ensure that the recipient or an authorized person is available to receive the order when required.

If delivery cannot be completed during an attempt, the delivery provider may schedule another attempt or provide instructions for further delivery arrangements.

Repeated unsuccessful delivery attempts may result in the order being returned to the sender.

Recipient Requirements

The customer or an authorized recipient may be required to provide relevant order or delivery information when receiving the order.

For deliveries requiring verification, the recipient may need to confirm the order reference or other applicable information.

The delivery provider may refuse to hand over an order when the required verification cannot be completed.

Customers are responsible for ensuring that an authorized person is available to receive the order when necessary.

Failed Delivery

Delivery may fail because of an incorrect address, incomplete address, unavailable recipient, inaccessible location, refused delivery, incorrect contact information, or other delivery-related circumstances.

Customers may be contacted when additional information is required to complete delivery.

If delivery fails because of incorrect or incomplete customer-provided information, additional delivery attempts may be subject to applicable conditions or charges.

Orders that cannot be delivered after the available delivery attempts may be returned to the sender.

Delayed Delivery

Delivery may be delayed because of high order volume, transportation problems, weather conditions, public holidays, technical issues, carrier delays, or other circumstances outside normal delivery operations.

Customers will receive updated delivery information when a significant delay is identified and an update is available.

A delayed delivery does not automatically mean that the order has been cancelled.

Customers can contact support if an order remains undelivered beyond the expected delivery period.

Damaged Package

Customers should inspect the package for visible signs of damage when it is delivered.

If the package appears damaged, customers should report the issue as soon as possible and provide the order reference and relevant evidence.

Photographs of the damaged packaging and product may be requested to verify the delivery issue.

The reported damage will be reviewed using the available order and delivery information.

Resolution for a confirmed damaged delivery may include replacement, return, refund, or another applicable solution depending on the circumstances.

Incorrect Delivery

If a customer receives a product that does not match the confirmed order, the issue should be reported to customer support as soon as possible.

The customer should provide the order reference, details of the incorrect item, and supporting photographs when requested.

The support team will verify the delivered item against the original order details.

If the incorrect delivery is confirmed, the customer may be provided with instructions for returning the incorrect item and receiving the correct item or another applicable resolution.

Missing Items

Customers should verify the contents of the order after delivery.

If one or more items listed in the confirmed order are missing, the customer should contact support with the order reference and details of the missing items.

The support team may review the order, packaging, shipment records, and delivery information to verify the issue.

If the missing item is confirmed, an appropriate resolution may be provided based on availability and applicable delivery terms.

Delivery Refusal

Customers may refuse delivery when the package is visibly damaged or when the delivery does not correspond to the expected order, where refusal is supported by the delivery process.

Customers should report the reason for refusal to support and provide the relevant order information.

Refusing delivery without a valid reason does not automatically qualify the customer for a refund.

Any refund resulting from an eligible refused delivery will be handled according to the applicable refund conditions.

Change of Delivery Address

Customers may request a change to the delivery address before the order is dispatched.

Address changes are subject to verification, serviceability, and the current order status.

Once an order has been dispatched, the delivery address may no longer be changed through the standard process.

Customers should contact support immediately if a delivery address needs to be corrected.

Delivery Completion

An order is considered delivered when the delivery provider records successful delivery at the designated delivery address.

Delivery confirmation may include a delivery timestamp, tracking update, recipient confirmation, or other available delivery evidence.

Customers should contact support promptly if the tracking system shows the order as delivered but the order has not been received.

The support team may investigate the delivery record with the applicable delivery provider.

Delivery to an Unavailable Recipient

If the recipient is unavailable when delivery is attempted, the delivery provider may make another attempt or provide instructions for arranging another delivery.

Customers should follow the instructions provided by the delivery provider or contact support when additional assistance is required.

If repeated attempts are unsuccessful, the order may be returned to the sender.

Any applicable refund following a failed delivery will depend on the reason for the failed delivery and the applicable refund conditions.

Returned Delivery

An order may be returned to the sender when delivery cannot be completed after the available delivery attempts or when the delivery address is invalid or inaccessible.

The customer may be notified when an order is returned.

If the returned order is eligible for a refund, the refund will be processed according to the applicable refund terms after the return has been verified.

A return caused by incorrect customer-provided delivery information may be subject to applicable conditions.

Customer Support for Delivery

Customers can contact customer support for assistance with delivery status, tracking, delivery delays, failed delivery, damaged packages, incorrect deliveries, missing items, address issues, and other delivery-related concerns.

Customers should provide their order reference number and registered contact information when contacting support.

Support agents may request additional delivery details, photographs, tracking information, or other evidence to investigate the issue.

Customers should report delivery problems as soon as possible after identifying them.

All delivery-related requests are reviewed according to the conditions and requirements specified in this Delivery Policy.
